MEDIATION – A RETURN TO FUNDAMENTALS

As part of MEDIATION AWARENESS WEEK, Cotswold Barristers are pleased to invite you to a presentation and discussion on “Mediation – A Return to Fundamentals” at WSP Solicitors (Business Suite), 3 -7 Rowcroft, Stroud GL5 3BJ on Tuesday 17th October 2017 10am-12 noon or at The University of Gloucestershire, The Downloads Room, Oxstalls Campus, Gloucester on Wednesday 18th October 2017 2pm- 4pm.

There is no charge to attend.

Margaret Young and Lise Seager, two members of the Mediation team at Cotswold Barristers, will lead the discussion.

Just as you have to choose a professional if you have a bad back – should it be the GP, physiotherapist, chiropractor or osteopath, so you need to choose an approach to resolve any dispute you or your clients may be involved in. How to choose? What are the differences between them? Can you try more than one, and can you make the wrong choice?

This session will show how mediation can often be the most appropriate way to resolve a dispute, what it involves, its benefits, and where it fits into the dispute resolution landscape.

As places are limited please RSVP margaret@cotswoldbarristers.co.uk

In support of Mediation Awareness Week, WSP Solicitors and The University of Gloucestershire have kindly provided the venues free of charge.
